A Good Motto to Remember

(Farmers cut this out)

Careful Straining and proper Cooling of Milk in water at this time of year is very essential to guard against loss. Both Dairyman and Manufacturers take big chances of loss if the Milk is not cooled just as carefully during winter months as in the summer. Do not trust to weather conditions. The Milk will not cool in the centre of the can fast enough to prevent high acidity unless proper stirring is applied.

Sir Wilfred Laurier Canada's Great Stateman Passes Away

The whole country was shocked on Monday last when it was learned that Sir Wilfred Laurier had suffered a paralytic stroke and that his life was gradually ebbing away. The end came on Monday afternoon at his home in Ottawa.

Sir Wilfred has been one of the outstanding Liberal statesmen of Canada for the last forty years and his splendid abilities as a leader will be greatly missed.

He died in harness as he was making every preparation to take his part in the coming session of the Federal parliament and even on Saturday last was in consultation with some of his friends and helpers.

The whole country mourns the loss of a fine character irrespective of politics.

A Last Word

The Municipal Hail Insurance Act to be voted upon by the electors on February 27th., was prepared by a Committee of farmers representing the old Hail Insurance District and the United Farmers of Alberta. The Committee took advice and assistance from wherever it could be obtained and they believe the Act provides the very best plan of Hail Insurance that has been offered to the farmers of Alberta. It has been enthusiastically and almost unanimously approved by the Annual Convention of the U.F.A., held in Edmonton last month, and deserves the careful consideration of every farmer.

The Act provides that the plan must be approved by the electors of at least forty-five Municipal Districts before it becomes operative. This means that the Hail Insurance Districts will be big enough and strong enough to be absolutely safe and sound.

The management of the business will be entirely in the hands of a Board of Directors to be elected by the farmers themselves. This Board will have full authority to do everything necessary to carry on the business, and for this purpose, to borrow the money required until the premiums are paid.

By this plan all crops of grain, unless withdrawn from the operation of the Act, are automatically insured for $8.00 per acre. Any farmer who wishes, may on or before June 15th., reduce the Insurance to $6.00 per acre, or he may insure part of his crop at $8.00 part at $6.00, and withdraw part of it, or he may withdraw all his land entirely from the operation of the Act and carry no Insurance. In this case he will, of course, have no premium to pay and will have nothing whatever to do with the plan until he applies to be insured, which he may do at any time.

The Act provides that adjustments of losses must be made promptly and awards must be paid within thirty days of the date of adjustment. The premiums will be levied only on the crops actually insured. They will be levied by the Board in the Fall and will be high enough to pay all the losses in full, all the expenses of administration and to provide for a small surplus. This surplus will be built up gradually until there is enough to carry on the business for one year.

Now as to the cost: The experience of the old Hail Insurance District shows that this plan of Insurance was carried on during the last five years at an average cost of 52-3 per cent. Under the proposed new plan, the Hail Insurance District will be much larger and even better results should be obtained. An average cost of 52-3 per cent means that Insurance of $6.00 per acre would cost 34 cents per acre of crop insured and $8.00 per acre Insurance would cost 45 cents per acre of crop insured.

The proposed plan, therefore, appears to be perfectly safe and sound,

EDITORIAL

A Real Test of Patriotism

Reconstruction is becoming a hackneyed word in the vocabulary of all people thus early after the close of the Great War. It is becoming as much a commonplace in our daily conversation and writing as was the phrase used so frequently during the war: "This old world can never be the same again." The truth of the latter saying is being impressed upon all people more and more clearly as the days pass, bringing with them a record of world upheaval in every department of life. And the word "reconstruction" merely stands for those new ideas, methods, and policies whereby the old world which existed prior to August, 1914, is to be changed for the better into a new world having its birth in the terrible cataclysm of the past four and a half years.

The world is confronted with a reconstruction of its social, religious, political, educational, economic and commercial life. Western Canada, cannot, even if it would, stand aloof and immune in this world-wide period of change. Our very habits of thought have undergone a revolution, and formerly held opinions have been uprooted, strong convictions have been weakened and old prejudices destroyed. We are already living in a new world.

Is this new world to be a better, finer one than the old? We all hope so, but it remains with us as individuals, and collectively as a nation, to bring about the realization of that hope. At the moment old customs, systems and policies are in the melting pot; they are being tried in the fiery furnace of a great social revolution which is sweeping the world with irresistible force. The danger is that in burning away the dross of the past we may fail to extract the pure gold of sound principles and the experience of the ages. With the swing of the pendulum from the old autocracy of the past to the new democracy of the future, there is danger of people mistaking their new found liberty for license, of going from one extreme to the other. And extremes are always dangerous.

This tendency is seen not only in Russia and other European countries where Bolshevism is leading to anarchy and ruin, but it is noticeable in Great Britain, United States and Canada where masses of the people in their eagerness to break away and discard the past are impatient of the time and consideration required in preparing and putting into effect new policies and creating new systems. Yet if the best results are to be attained, if permanent conditions making for lasting good are to be created, it must be by the taking of gradual steps, by evolution, and not by violent measures and sudden revolution.

The next few months constitute the most critical period in the history of mankind. The sudden coming of peace threw the world out of gear even more completely than did the sudden outbreak of war. With the outbreak of war, endangering all our personal liberties and our very national independence, the fires of patriotism burned high and people of all classes were willing to undergo any discomfort and make any sacrifice in order that victory might be achieved. But with victory came relaxation, and the danger now is that the patient patriot may become the impatient and carping critic.

The real patriotism of the Canadian people is to be put to the test now and during the next few months. With the throwing of tens of thousands of men and women out of war employment, and the return of some hundreds of thousands of soldiers to civilian life, there will inevitably be some unemployment, and unemployment always means illness and leads to discontent, unrest and distress. It is the duty of all those in a position to do so to provide employment for others. Many cannot do this, but they nevertheless have a personal responsibility to their country in the present crisis.

It is the duty of every individual at this time to remain calm and patient, to place a curb on his tongue and give no encouragement to feelings of unrest and discontent among others, and to set their faces sternly against all movements calculated to weaken our laws and constituted authorities and offer defiance to orderly and good government. The people's rights should be steadfastly maintained, and all legitimate grievances presented, but these things should be done in an orderly and lawful way and by constitutional means.

Such an attitude on the part of the great, intelligent mass of the Canadian people will enable this Dominion to the more quickly readjust itself to peace conditions and bring into effect without undue delay those reforms in all departments of life which admittedly are necessary. Displays of lawlessness, and the encouragement of unrest and discontent among the people, will only serve to hamper the progress of reconstruction and postpone the dawning of that better day toward which our faces are turned.

Demands of Socialists

Which are to Be Submitted to Peace Conference

Berne. — After considerable fruitless argument on the war, during which the German delegates refused to repudiate militarism, the Socialist conference worked on the demands which are to be submitted to the peace conference. These include an eight-hour day, restrictions on the work of women and children, emigration of paupers and home work under sanitary conditions. These conditions, it is contended, should form a part in the peace treaty.

A permanent committee and a permanent international office of control for the protection of the working classes is anticipated, as also is an international labor parliament to be called once a year. Chairman Schmeberger said the conference did not constitute a quorum and that it had not been regularly summoned, but that, nevertheless, it would continue its work and submit the results to the peace conference.

LINGERING WEAKNESS FOLLOWING DISEASE

Banished by the Wonderful Tonic Powers of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

In almost every case the victims of la grippe, influenza, fevers or contagious troubles, are left weak, ailing and despondent after the disease itself has disappeared. They do not pick up strength as they ought, and remain tired listless and discouraged. The one and only reason for this is that the blood has been impoverished by the ravage of the disease through which the victim has passed. Strength and full activity will not return until the blood has been restored to its normal condition. The blood can be enriched and purified by no other medicine as quickly and as surely as by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. To enrich the blood and strengthen the nerves is the whole mission of these pills, and thousands have found them beneficial in bringing strength and energy after disease had left them weak and run down. Miss Beatrice Cassidy, Vrooman, Ont., says:—"From my own experience I can speak in the highest terms of praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I passed through a severe attack of scarlet fever, from which I did not regain my strength after the fever itself had passed. I was left very weak, pale and frail looking, and although I was continuing to take medicine, I did not improve. At this time a friend advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and following the advice, I soon felt the pills were helping me, and after taking them for about a month I found myself fully restored to my old time health and strength. I therefore strongly advise anyone who feels weak or run down to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial and I feel sure they will not regret it."

Rich red blood is the whole secret of good health, and from the first to the last dose Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enrich and purify the blood. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50c a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A normal school building will be erected in Saskatoon. The estimated cost is $250,000.

Want National Union

Headquarters Should Be at Winnipeg Rather Than Ottawa

The remnants of a big program of business was cleaned up at the session of the annual convention of the Western Live Stock Union at Brandon. For the first time since the inception of the organization, five years ago, the presidency has changed hands. Dr. J. G. Rutherford having declared it was impossible for him to occupy the chair for another year, he was hoisted to the position of honorary president, his successor in the chair being Dr. Tolmie, of Victoria, B. C. The stockmen placed themselves on record as in favor of the formation of a national union, but many were the expressions made to the effect that its headquarters should be at Winnipeg rather than at Ottawa.

Oat Seed for Canada

Agents have been appointed in Minneapolis, where the oats will be cleaned and inspected and shipped direct to their destinations.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c. K. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

WOMAN'S BEST
LAXATIVEProved Every Day That Dr.
Hamilton's Pills Are Just Right for Woman's Ills

Little wonder woman suffers so much from constipation. She always hesitates, continually puts off taking medicine.

Of course a woman's system is delicate, is easily injured by drastic purgatives. Bitter experience with harsh medicines makes her cautious, and to her great injury, chronic sluggishness of the system is permitted.

Few pills are suited to the actual needs of woman—they are too strong.

But there is a good woman's laxative, and it combines mildness with thoroughness of activity—it is known to the people of many nations as Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which never gripe, never cause nausea and are safe to use no matter what the conditions of strength or circumstances of health may be. A naturalness and regularity of the system, so important to every woman, is quickly acquired by the regular use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. As a health-bringer, as a tonic laxative, as an all-round ladies' medicine, there is positively nothing so efficacious as Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Manchester and Butternut; 25c per box, at all dealers.

Foster told it as clearly as he could though this took some time, and when he had finished was annoyed by his comrade's smile. Lawrence seldom took things seriously enough.

"Jake is a born meddler," he remarked to the others. "He can't resist the temptation to put crooked matters right."

"It is a useful habit," said Mrs. Stephen quietly.

"Just so," Lawrence agreed. "Still it's a habit that ought to be carefully controlled and not, so to speak, indulged out of sentimental impulses."

Foster felt embarrassed, although he thought he had said no more about Carmen and Alice than was needed to make his narrative clear.

"First of all," Lawrence resumed, "he takes up my defence, then he must help Carmen, and I think deserved the trouble in which she involved him. Next he seems to have been moved by my sister's anxiety." He paused and gave Foster a curious quiet smile. "I wondered what Alice would think of you and hope she was grateful."

Foster, who saw Lucy's interest, wondered whether he had told more than he meant, but his comrade's amusement seemed uncalled for, and he rejoined: "I imagined I'd made it plain that your sister wasn't the only relative your carelessness alarmed."

"You did. The situation wasn't without its humor, Jake. After you had embarked on a number of strange adventures on my behalf, it must have been galling to be suspected of having made away with me. However, I understand that Alice didn't take this view?"

"She did not," said Foster shortly, and Lawrence rang a bell.

"Get me a C.P. telegram form," he ordered the waiter.

The form was brought and Lawrence filled it up and gave it to the man. Then he fixed his eyes on Foster and remarked carelessly: "I've sent it in your name, Jake, and not to my father. I thought somebody had better break the comforting news to him, and briefly stated that you had found me."

"Oughtn't you to have added some particulars?" Mrs. Stephen asked.

"On the whole, I don't think so."

For one thing, Jake's taciturn modesty rather becomes him, and the charges for an English telegram are high."

Foster said nothing, but he knew the message had been sent to Alice and Lawrence was satisfied with him as his sister's lover. This was something, but after all Lawrence's approval might not count for much.

"That's done with," the latter resumed. "Since you didn't find Daly at Banff, we have to decide if Carmen meant to deceive you and he never intended going there. I rather think we had better leave it to Mrs. Stephen and Lucy."

"I imagine she told the truth," Lucy replied. "If she had loved the man, she might, after all, have tried to protect him; but a selfish, ambitious girl, who found she had been cheated, would be capable of ruining him in a fit of jealous rage."

"But I didn't state that she was ambitious and selfish," objected Foster. Lawrence's eyes twinkled. "You don't realize all your talents, Jake. For one thing, you have a gift for narrative, and the portrait you drew of Carmen with a stroke or two was lifelike. Then when you met and bluffed her into giving Daly away, you couldn't have taken a more effective line if you had been an ambassador. What do you think, Mrs. Stephen?"

"Mr. Foster seems to have used all his advantages and the girl got a shock that found out her weak points. I believe she meant to ruin her worthless lover."

"So do I," Lawrence agreed. "I expect you have made Jake sorry he was firm, but I'd warned him about Carmen and she doesn't deserve much pity. But why did Daly leave England and how did he find out that I'd been at Banff?"

"If you'll tell me what you have done since you left the Crossing, it might help to solve the puzzle," Foster replied.

Lawrence made a gesture of resignation. "I suppose it must be told. I went to California and didn't get well as I expected. There was a good deal of sea fog on the coast and after a time I went farther south. That's one reason I didn't write; I felt languid and dejected and didn't want to alarm my folks. Well, I tried Mexico and got rather worse; beside, I found lounging tiresome work. In consequence, I joined a steamer going north and her doctor told me that dry cold mountain air was the best cure for troubles like mine. I met Walters on the voyage up the coast."

"Perhaps you had better describe him," Lucy suggested.

"Walters looks about my age and is thin and dark; an amusing fellow and remarkably well informed. In fact, I could not guess his nationality; he seemed to have been everywhere. He had good manners, but somehow one missed—"

"Something that good manners must be founded on," Lucy interposed.

Foster saw that they had argued about the man before, because Lawrence smiled indulgently.

"Then how did he make your acquaintance?" he asked the girl.

"That was not altogether Lawrence's fault. Walters was cleverer than he thought."

"And he mailed one of the letters that did not arrive?"

"The fellow," Lawrence continued, "was a pleasant companion and when I mentioned why I was travelling, agreed that the mountains were best for me. Told me about some friends of his whom the air had cured."

"In short, he recommended your trying Banff," Lucy remarked.

"He did me a good turn there. We separated at Seattle, but I found him at Victoria, where I stopped some weeks. It was there I met Lucy, who was going to Banff. I must explain that she's a mountaineer."

The girl blushed. "I climbed in the Olympians twice with college friends. They talked about exploring some of the northern glaciers next summer, and as we wanted a change I persuaded mother to spend a month or two at a mountain resort where I could get some practice on the ice." She paused and added in a grave tone: "I really don't climb well, Mr. Foster, and doubt if I shall venture on the rocks again."

"Well," Lawrence resumed, "we decided to go to Banff together. I got better rapidly and we made a few easy excursions into the mountains, but the weather was bad and we didn't like our hotel. Then Walters

Weak and Nervous
COULD NOT SLEEP

When the system receives a shock of any kind, the heart becomes weakened, the nerves unstrung, the appetite poor, faint and weak feelings come over you, you can't sleep at night, and you wonder if life is worth living.

To all those who suffer from nervous shock we would recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills as the best remedy to tone up the entire system and strengthen the weakened organs.

Mrs. J. J. Bunyan, Pilot Butte, Sask., writes:—"I have used Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills after having suffered from a terrible shock to my whole system. I was so utterly weak, and nervous I could not sleep at night, and my appetite was very poor. I could not walk across the floor without trembling all over. I had hot flushes and fainting spells."

When I was on the second box of your Heart and Nerve Pills, I began to feel that they were doing me good, so I kept on until I had used six boxes, when I felt like a different person.

I am never without them in the house, and highly recommend them to all who suffer with their heart."

turned up again and told us about this place. In fact, he was rather enthusiastic about it and said we'd find good rock climbing at the door, so we agreed to move."

"And took Walters?"

"He was an amusing fellow. He'd a way of finding something interesting for one to do and was always ready when he was wanted; a very useful man to have about."

Foster imagined his comrade might have found the fellow about when he was not wanted, but Mrs. Stephen's smile was illuminating. It seemed to hint that Lawrence had found Walters useful because he took her off his hands. Foster thought it curious that the man was satisfied with his part, since Lucy was a very attractive girl. Walters had obviously not attached himself to the party on her account.

"As I got stronger we tried some harder climbs," Lawrence went on. "Lucy is clever and steady on the ice; I'd had some practice on Seawall in winter when I was at home, and though Walters didn't know much about the work his nerve is good. At length we resolved to try the sharp peak yonder."

It was nearly dark, but Foster, looking up the valley, saw a white summit gleam against the sky. The shoulders of the mountain had faded to a pale grey, and the darker streak that filled a deep hollow marked a glacier.

"We started early and at first found the glacier rough but safe. Walters had insisted on two guides; prospectors, used to the rocks, who now and then took a tourist party out. The glacier brought us up some height, but after a time the surface began to be broken by big crevasses. We spent two hours picking our way across and at noon saw we must find another way. The slope on the right would take us off our line; on the left there were high, icy rocks that would puzzle a member of the Alpine club."

"We sat down and examined the

Let folks step on your feet hereafter; wear shoes a size smaller if you like, for corns will never again send electric sparks of pain through you, according to this Cincinnati authority.

He says that a few drops of a drug called freezone, applied directly upon a tender, aching corn, instantly relieves soreness, and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts right out.

This drug is a sticky ether compound, but dries at once and simply shrivels up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue.

It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce of freezone obtained at any drug store will cost very little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Cut this out, especially if you are a woman reader who wears high heels.

mountain with the glasses. Above the crags, a snowfield ran up to the foot of the last sharp ridge, but we did not see how we could reach it. Ragged clouds drove across the ridge and blowing snow streamed about the peak like mist. Lucy, however, was keen on going on, and by and by one of the guides picked out a coulee that might take us up. Coulce's good French-Canadian, but Alpinists call it a couloir. It looked like a thin, white, perpendicular streak on the face of the dark rock. But perhaps I'm boring you with these particulars."

Lucy gave Foster a meaning look and he said, "No. I want to understand the thing."

"It was awkward to reach the coulee, because the glacier was badly crevassed, but we got there. The gully was nearly precipitous; a narrow trough that served as a rubbish shoot for the mountain when the thaw split the rocks. I expect it's ground smooth in summer, but it was filled with hard, slippery snow. We stopped again and studied it, and I felt doubtful about taking Lucy up, but she didn't want to go back. Walters took my view and said we'd all go back, but he looked disappointed and Lucy wouldn't agree."

"I lost my temper," Lucy admitted. "I never liked Walters and when he supported Lawrence I got obstinate. Besides, I thought he really wanted to get rid of me."

"Anyhow, we decided that one guide should take Lucy back down the glacier."

"Walters decided," Lucy objected. "It's important, Mr. Foster, that he chose the guide. Be careful how you tell the rest, Lawrence."

"He said she must take the best man and one laughed and said that if we meant to get up we'd better stick to him. Walters, however, sent this fellow off with Lucy, and then we fastened on the rope and began to climb. We got up perhaps a hundred feet by kicking steps in the snow, but that's a tiring job for the leader and when he found a crack in the wall, where we could stop, the guide had had enough."

"Why was it necessary to find a crack?" Foster asked. "I'm not a mountaineer."

"One couldn't stand on the snow, and if we had tried to sit on it, we'd have shot down to the bottom; for the most part, the walls were ground smooth. When you go up a place like that, the leader kicks a little hole as high as he can in front, and then stands in it while he makes another. The rest put their feet in the holes as they follow. Well, when we set off again I went first and had to use my axe because the snow had hardened into ice. I soon found out I hadn't quite got better, and was forced to stop when we were nearly half way up. We lay down with our toes in the cracks to rest, and I slid my flask down to Walters when I'd had a drink. It was a big flask, and I'd got it filled with brandy. I thought the guide took a remarkably long drink, but he looked steady when he crawled up to take my place."

"After that it was very slow work and we were glad when we found a knob of rock sticking out of the ice. It had been ground into the shape of a bridge pier by the rubbish shooting past. We stopped a bit and argued if we should give it up, but the guide declared he knew a better way down into the next valley and Walters seemed keen, so we ate something, took another drink, and set off again. The slope was dangerously steep and I thought the guide was using his axe wildly, but we came to a deep crack in the wall and when Walters suggested that it might help us out of the gully I threw off the rope. It would have been of no use if I had fallen, and I meant to come down unless I saw a fairly safe route to the snowfield. In fact, I think, I meant to give up the climb and only went to find an excuse for this."

"The crack was quite vertical and gave a good hold, but when I'd got up eighteen or twenty feet I came to an awkward slab. It bulged out, but I found a hold for my hands and scrambled over the edge. I managed this because the alternative was falling off and shooting to the bottom of the coulee, but perhaps because I was weaker than I thought, I wrenched my shoulder during the lift. Anyhow, I couldn't use my arm. It appeared afterwards that a ligament was strained, and the joint pinches yet. "For a minute or two I thought hard. There was no way up, and I hadn't nerve enough to lower myself over the ledge by one arm. When I moved the other cautiously it hurt worse than at first. I called to the others and told them how I was fixed, but got a shock when the guide looked up.

"Can't get down?" he said. "Then why in thunder don't you jump?"

"The fool's drunk," Walters explained and added that he'd try to bring me the rope.

"I told him to throw me the end, as there was a knob I could double it round and then slide down both parts. The trouble was that Walters had nothing much to stand on when he tried to throw the coil. He lost his balance, slid down the gully, and jerked the guide out of his step. I saw Walters' axe shoot down in front, but the guide stuck to his, and the blade dragging over the rough surface checked them a bit. For all that, it looked as if they'd go straight to the bottom and they would hardly have got there alive, but the small rock wasn't far below. I don't think I breathed while I waited to see if it would bring them up."

"Walters struck the rock first and was very quick with the rope; in fact, I was astonished at his coolness, because he must have got a heavy blow. He stopped the other fellow and they lay on the rock for a few minutes. Then Walters shouted: 'He's not to be trusted, and I can't climb back alone.'"

Reconstruction of Poland

French plans for making the Rhone river navigable from Switzerland to Marseilles contemplate the use of locks, from which could be produced hydro-electric power that would largely pay for the investment.

Intervention in Russia Appears Now Impossible

London. — Premier Lloyd George spoke again on the general peace situation. The occasion was brought about by the Capt. the Hon. Rupert Guinness, Unionist, asking whether the premier was prepared to press to the utmost, reparation from Germany and also to make Germany pay to the full extent of her resources. He also pressed for more information as to the status of the British colonies at the peace conference.

"We have had far too much of the particular panacea which America is supporting at the conference," said Captain Guinness. "Since the days of Mahomet, no prophet has been listened to with more superstitious respect than President Wilson."

Mr. Lloyd George began his reply by saying that reparation by Germany was the election pledge given by the government after careful consideration by the cabinet. The government, he said, stood by every word of this pledge.

The premier, defending the pledges of the peace conference, said the government has been devoting its time to speeding up agreements. He was sanguine that a complete agreement would be reached concerning the German western boundary, but the eastern boundary was a different matter. Until the commission sent to examine the matter reported, the allies would be in no position to make demands upon Germany.

The conference was unanimous, he said, that Germany had forfeited all rights to her colonies.

Mr. Lloyd George contended that with regard to indemnities, the British government was in advance of any government, as it was the first to appoint a committee to deal with this matter.

He declared that there had never been any proposal advanced at the peace conference to recognize the Bolsheviks. Russia was ready to dematize, but difficult to deal with. He admitted that the horrors of Bolshevism were so great that there was a sense of disgust when they came to deal with the leaders, but it was useless to blind their eyes to the real facts.

Russia represented an area over half of Europe, and nearly half of Asia, and, he pointed out, if peace were not made, the whole of this immense territory would be seething in anarchy, disorder and bloodshed; there would be no peace in the world. The Bolsheviks, the premier asserted, were assassins, guilty of the crimes laid to their charge. The allies had given the anti-Bolshevik governments financial support and assistance. Much of their equipment had been supplied by the allies, who were anxious to keep the rich territories of Russia out of German hands.

If troops were to be sent to Russia, who would send them? America, he said, would send neither men, money nor material, and the work would fall upon the British and French.

The Bolshevik machinery in Russia was ruthless and brutal, but there was no doubt about its efficiency and it was the only machinery there. Everybody in the past who had interfered in Russia had come to grief. There was no idea of recognizing the Bolsheviks; it was quite impossible to do so as long as they were pursuing their present methods.

It might be argued, he said, that the Bolshevik is governed by terror. The same could be said of the French revolution. He was unable to disclose the figures that intervention would involve, but, after seeing them, no sane man, he declared, would advise the allies, after five years of war, to undertake the enterprise. The Bolshevik military power had grown, while both England and Germany were too occupied to attack it and it was strong.

"And if we won, how long would we occupy the country?" he asked, "and what guarantee would there be that when we withdrew, a dependable government would be set up?"

Referring to alternative of allowing the fire in Russia to burn itself out, the premier characterized this as a brutal policy, and added that it would be useless to send food to Petrograd when the only disturbing organization was Bolshevik. Supporting the Prinkipo alternative, the premier argued that it was by no means unknown on the northern frontier of India to parley with brigands and even assassins. The Bolshevik system could not last forever and, in the meantime, he was informed, the threat of intervention was driving the moderate element into Bolshevik hands.

He urged that the allies must do their best in the interest, not only of Russia, but also of Great Britain and of the world, to restore order and good government in that distracted country.

Bolsheviks Got Stores

Washington. — Large stores of food, coal, munitions and other supplies have been obtained by the Bolshevik forces along the Dvina river, advices to the state department said. The despatches did not make clear whether the stores were captured by the soviet troops or were abandoned by the Czecho-Slovaks and loyal Russian forces.

Paris. — King Alfonso of Spain, has definitely decided to visit South America, according to the Gaulois. He will go to Buenos Ayres, Montevideo and Rio de Janeiro, it is said, but the date of the voyage has not yet been fixed.

Will Sell Land

Edmonton. — About 100 offers of land in different parts of the province have been received by the Alberta office of the soldier settlement board from private owners who are willing to sell under the new land scheme now pending. They are for various sized parcels, ranging from one-quarter section to a block of 2,100 acres and the prices quoted run from $5 to $30 per acre. The list of properties so offered will be placed before Commissioner Maher, chairman of the settlement board, and Major Shore, director of lands for the west, both of whom are expected here in the course of the next few days.

Kaiser Confers With Supporters

Object of Meetings Cannot Be Ascertained

Amerongen, Holland. — There have been various indications during the last week that Count Hohenzollern, the former German emperor, is maintaining communication with his former supporters.

Two secretaries of the German legation at the Hague, Koester and Schleibach, visited the castle at Amerongen and stayed over night, having a long conference with Count Hohenzollern and Hans von Guntard, the sole remaining high functionary of the old imperial court. He remains faithful to the former emperor. Baroness von Rosen, the English wife of the German minister to Holland, is still at the castle.

The object of these meetings cannot be ascertained. Further departures of the former emperor's domestics occurred during the last week, some of them, however, being replaced by new arrivals from Berlin. The German government has given notice to all state servants in attendance on the former emperor and his wife that they must place themselves at the disposal of the government by April 1 or forfeit all claims for pensions. Countess Keller still remains with the former empress.

Will Not Use Military Force

League Has Not Decided to Form International Army

Paris. — Lord Robert Cecil, the British representative on the league of nations commission, denied the report spread in Paris that the league of nations commission had approved the creation of an international army and that the United States and Great Britain had conceded the point to France.

Lord Robert Cecil said that in his opinion the commission would decline moreover, to approve any such plan. He added that such a report must have originated from an enemy of the peace conference.

Australia Will Assist Farmers

Guarantee Ninety-seven Cents Per Bushel for Wheat Crop

Ottawa. — Some interesting particulars of the steps taken by the government of the Australian commonwealth to assist the wheat growers of the island continent are contained in a report to the department of trade and commerce from P. D. Ross, Canadian trade commissioner at Melbourne. He states that, independent of earlier guarantees, owing to the federal government not having reached a decision in the matter the commonwealth government has decided to make advances of 97 cents per bushel to farmers on the 1918-19 crop of recognized quality. This guarantee immediately relieved the state government from any liability in making advances to farmers.

The advance will involve a payment by the government of over sixty million dollars in addition to railway freight and all expenses in handling.

An estimate made by the Australian wheat board puts the available supply in Australia at 156,266,000 bushels.

Chaplains Gain Honors

London. — The total number of Canadian chaplains now serving in the overseas forces is 436. The number of honors gained include five C.M.G.'s, nine D.S.O.'s, 33 M.C.'s, 35 mentioned in despatches and 13 brought to the notice of the secretary of state for war.

Two chaplains were killed in action; one died of wounds; one was drowned on the Llandoverly Castle, which was sunk by a German submarine; two died of illness and twenty-one were wounded.

Four Russ Factions Join Conference

Paris. — Prospects are brightening for the assembling of at least four of the Russian faction at the conference to be held on Prince's Islands. Word has come from the Ukraine that the government of that former part of Russia will participate in the conference, and it is reported that the indecision of General Denikine has given way to a desire to join the conference. The government of the Crimea already has accepted the invitation as has the Russian Bolshevik government.

Make Germany Realize We Are Their Conquerors

Claims of Belgium

Paris. — The Belgian claims as placed before the supreme council included a demand for the return to Belgium of some territory held by Germany in addition to requests for free navigation of the Scheldt and the restoration of certain territory held by the Dutch. The German districts demanded are Montjoie and Malmedy, just east of the present Belgian-German border. The population of these districts is mainly Walloon and their possession by Belgium, it was pointed out, would deprive Germany of an outlet for a new invasion of Belgium.

Reds Invade Japan

Tokio. — It is reported that Bolsheviks are daily pouring into Japan to the great consternation of the local police, who are trying by every means to prevent harm by the invaders. It is estimated that there are 400 of these undesirables, each possessed of plenty of money, living in Yokohama and Tokio. Many of the unwelcome visitors are planning to go to America but are finding difficulty in getting certificates.

New German Ministry

Copenhagen. — According to despatches from Weimar, an agreement has been reached by the German national assembly on the composition of the new ministry which will consist of 14 members. Philip Scheidemann has been selected chancellor. Dr. August Mueller, minister of economics. Herr Bauer, minister of labor. Herr Landberg, minister of national defence and justice.

Paris. — The German authorities have been asked to furnish information confirming the amount of the war material, cannon, airplanes and other equipment. This question came up in the recent sessions of the war council, when the extent of this material was advanced as a reason for taking effective measures against the renewal of warlike activity.

Before determining on any such step, it was considered desirable to request information, both as a memo, dealing with the subject, and as testing the good faith of the enemy in disclosing the status of his military equipment.

Although no official communication was issued after the meeting of the supreme war council, the Havas Agency understands that the council decided first to place Germany in a military situation where it would be impossible to recommence hostilities.

It is pointed out that the enemy countries are preserving war material permitting them to equip very rapidly an army of at least 3,000,000 men.

The council decided, secondly, according to Havas, "To make Germany realize that we are the conquerors and that it is not a 'White peace' that we are seeking to impose on her."

In case Germany submits with grace, continues Havas, it is possible that the entente would facilitate the resumption of the entente's works of peace for the benefit of Germany.

The council also had to exchange the demand by the Poles that a clause be introduced into the armistice that agricultural machinery stolen by the enemy should be restored.

The council's program also contained questions of effectives and the raising of the blockade concerning Turkey and Bulgaria.

After a Year of Great Suffering from Kidney Disease and Lamé
Back—Two Interesting
Letters

Lindale, Alta., Feb. 19.—It is only after sickness that one properly appreciates health. The writers of these letters show how they appreciate the means whereby health was regained, and recommend the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to others.

If kidney disease is to be cured it must be taken in hand early, and that is why the warning given by backache, headache and urinary derangements should be heeded and treatment begun at once.

Mr. C. E. Raymus, Lindale, Alta., writes: "I was a great sufferer from kidney disease and lame back for more than a year. A friend of mine one day told me of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and, acting upon his advice, I tried them. After I had taken one box I felt better, so I continued until I had used five boxes. By this time I felt as well and strong as ever, and am glad to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to anyone suffering as I did."

"I know Mr. C. E. Raymus, and believe his statement in regard to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to be true and correct."—John Torbett, Postmaster.

Mr. Thomas Austin, Earl Grey, Sask., writes: "I wish to let you know what Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills did for me. Last summer my back ached so much that I not only could not sleep at night, but could not lie in comfort in bed. I tried several remedies, and finally sent for three boxes of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, but was quite cured by the time I had used one box. I always recommend these Pills to anyone suffering the same as I did, as I am satisfied and thankful that they cured me."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25c a box, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute or imitation. The portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., are on every box of the genuine.

2/3 OF YOUR MATCH MONEY GOES TO THE GOVERNMENT

The tax on matches amounts to more than the cost of the matches themselves. As a matter of fact, two-thirds of your match money goes to the Government, and one third goes to pay for the material, the labor and the handling of the matches. And the tax is the same whether you get good matches or poor ones. When you you avoid paying this heavy tax on an unsatisfactory product. Eddy's matches have been the standard for 67 years. Not only is our output by far the largest of any manufacturer in Canada, enabling us to use expensive automatic machinery which ensures uniformity of product, but our long line of products enables us to select just the proper grades of wood for matches.

Insist on Getting Eddy's Matches

When you pay your match tax (as you do every time you buy matches) see that Eddy's name is on the box

Hun Socialists Defend Germany

Say Nation Declared War Because of Russian Mobilization

Berne. — The German majority socialists, in opposition to the resolution introduced by Albert Thomas, calling for investigation of responsibility for the war, introduced a resolution to the effect that the war had been the consequence of imperialist policy during the last decade, but it was the duty of the socialist to establish the immediate causes. The resolution says that the causes of the war were the Austrian ultimatum to Serbia, the general mobilization in Russia and Germany's declaration of war as a result of Russian mobilization. The German socialists, the resolution says, demand a full investigation of the facts to establish collective and personal responsibilities, but wait for their comrades in other countries to demand a similar investigation in their countries.

The German socialists declare that the entry of German troops into Belgium was a violation of the rights of peoples which nothing that has occurred since has justified.

Indians Indignant

Over Proposal to Charge Them License Tax to Trap Fur

Winnipeg, Man. — Anger and hostility is rife among the Indians over the proposal to charge them a license tax to trap fur. The Pas tribe met in council and drew up a strong resolution, condemning the proposal and asking for its immediate cancellation. Chief Constant, of the tribe, declared it is a violation of the treaty made with them by Queen Victoria in 1876, when the representatives of the Queen told him "that so long as the sun shines in the skies, and so long as the Saskatchewan river runs, the White Queen will protect the Indians." The tax becomes effective Oct. 1 this year.

Immigration Into the West

Winnipeg, Man. — Although the immigration figures for the west for January, 1919, show a marked decrease as compared with the same month last year, there is an indication that the immigrants are of a wealthier class than usual. The immigration department issued a statement of the number of immigrants who arrived at western ports during January. The total is 828. In January, 1918, there were 1,371 immigrants. There were 17 cars of effects as compared with 35 last year.

To Extend Telephone Lines

Regina, Sask. — Construction of rural telephone lines is expected to be most extensive in Saskatchewan this year. According to estimates prepared by leading contractors, there will be at least 8,000 miles of new telephone extension undertaken, exclusive of long-distance extensions by the provincial government, at a cost of about $2,500,000. It is said that ample funds are available and that with a freer labor supply, the only drawback will be a temporary shortage of poles.

MOTHERS TO BE

Should Read Mrs. Moryhan's Letter Published by Her Permission.

Mitchell, Ind. — "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me so much during the time I was looking forward to the coming of my little one that I am recommending it to other expectant mothers. Before taking it, sometimes I suffered with neuralgia so badly that I thought I could not live, but after taking three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was entirely relieved of neuralgia, I had gained in strength and was able to go around and do all my housework. My baby when seven months old weighed 19 pounds and I feel better than I have for a long time. I never had any medicine do me so much good." — Mrs. PEARL MORYHAN, Mitchell, Ind.

Good health during maternity is a most important factor to both mother and child, and many letters have been received by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., telling of health restored during this trying period by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Allies Warm Enemy

Copenhagen. — Great Britain and France have sent notes to Matthias Erzberger, the Weimar correspondent of the Berlinische Tidende saying he learns from a reliable source, dealing with the failure of Germany to deliver locomotives and agricultural machinery as agreed. He says the tone of the notes virtually constitute a threat to Germany.

The indications of worms are restlessness, grinding of the teeth, picking of the nose, extreme peevishness, often convulsions. Under these conditions the best remedy that can be got is Miller's Worm Powders. They will attack the worms as soon as administered and will grind them to atoms that pass away in the evacuations. The little sufferer will be immediately eased and a return of the attack will not be likely.

WHEN BABY IS CROSS

Mothers, when your baby is cross—when he cries a great deal and no amount of attention or petting cheers him up—something is the matter. It is not the nature of the little ones to be cross and peevish—the well child is a happy child. Give him a dose of Baby's Own Tablets and he will soon be well again. They are a mild but thorough laxative; regulate the bowels and stomach; banish constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers; in fact they cure all the minor ailments of the little ones. Concerning them Mrs. Alphonse Lachance, St. Apolline, Que., writes: "My baby cried continually but Baby's Own Tablets soon set her right and now she is fat and happy." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

B. C. Iron and Steel

No Large Quantities of Iron Ore Have Been Blocked Out

The British Columbia advisory committee for scientific and industrial research has reported to the research council at Ottawa, the preliminary results of an investigation into the possibilities of developing an iron and steel industry on the Pacific coast. The general conclusion reached is that there is room for one large plant, provided that it is assured of the whole of the Pacific coast market, but that economic conditions of manufacturing and marketing products under present conditions does not warrant the establishment of more than one plant. No large quantities of iron ore have been so far blocked out at any one place in British Columbia. There are now two rolling mills operating in British Columbia using scrap iron and steel, and there is a possibility of this starting an electric smelting furnace. There does not seem to be, however, much likelihood of the iron and steel industry ever being developed on the Pacific coast to any large extent.

Thrift Clubs for Schools

Regina, Sask. — The department of education will encourage thrift in the schools in a systematic campaign to stimulate the sale of war savings thrift stamps. The department will distribute 30,000 copies of the Canada war thrift books, and 50,000 copies of the booklet, "What Canada Has Done in the War," among trustees, teachers and senior pupils of the 5,000 schools in the province. Instructions will be given in the method of organizing thrift clubs, so that the children of Saskatchewan who have saved for four years for patriotic purposes will continue saving for themselves.

The provincial police of the Saskatoon division handled no less than 2,105 cases last year.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble. Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion." Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisulphated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloated right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisulphated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Elkton Helps Widows and Orphans

A very enjoyable box social and dance was held at the Elkton schoolhouse on Friday night last for the purpose of raising money for the widows and orphans of the brave fellows who lost their lives that we might live in freedom and security. The sum realized amounted to $42 which was handed in to Mr. H. E. Osmond to forward to the Great War Veterans Association who will distribute the money to the best advantage. Those responsible for the affair wish to thank the people of Elkton for their support, the ladies who brought the very nice and pretty boxes as well as those musicians who helped to make the affair such a success.

The Didsbury Women's Institute request those who have any cast off clothing in good repair or produce of any kind to donate same to the Salvation Army Orphan's Home. The Red Cross rooms will be open on Saturday afternoon, February 22nd to receive same.

War Savings Societies Are Something New

Among organization in Canada, the W.S.S. is new. In this connection the letters stand for War Saving Societies. Of course they also stand for Women Save Systematically, but this is another matter. War Savings Societies were prompted by the fact that people in groups will often do that which, individually, they will not do nearly as readily. Their purpose is to promote the saving of money.

In the matter of saving, a great source of trouble in the past has been, not that people failed to realize that saving is desirable, but that they failed to save in a systematic and continuous manner. They would resolve to save and then forget it.

The War Savings Society gives those who compose it a common purpose and a plan that is easily followed. Ten or more persons may thus band themselves together. When they have organized they receive a charter from the National War Savings Committee, which is a kind of official recognition.

Women's organizations are a splendid field for War Savings Societies, because women in the homes can do more to promote saving than any other class. These organizations have now a splendid opportunity for such work now that their war activities are ceasing.
